PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Junior Front-End Developer

My experience in web development mainly comes from self-education and independant projects, that I love to challenge my self with. Having 12+ month of experience studying and building web solutions, I have developed a strong passion for this domain.

To demonstrate my learning curve, below I have provided a git link, which you can use to review the projects I have built along the way.

This is my first application for Junior Front-End Dev. position, and I am excited to put my skills to the test as part of a growing, ambitious team.
